MAY MOVE ITS OFFICES

TO THE MILLS BUILDING
U. S. Chamber of Commerce to Have Temporary Quarters Pending Erection of New Home.

The United States Chamber of Commerce has practically decided to move its headquarters into the Mills building, 17th street and Pennsylvania avenue, pending the erection of its proposed new home, it was learned last night.

Officials of the chamber would not state definitely last night that they intend to make the Mills building its headquarters. One official said announcement of the selection of a temporary building probably would be made tomorrow. The national chamber's growth has been so rapid in the past few years, it is stated, that it is cramped for space in its present headquarters in the Riggs building.

The Mills building has been in use by a branch of the War Department since this country entered the war, but the government has vacated the premises.

New Way to Remove Hairs Creates Sensation (Actually Takes Out The Roots)

What beauty specialists regard as one of the most important discoveries in recent years is the phenolic method of removing superfluous hair. Its great advantage, of course, lies in the fact that it actually removes the hair roots. It does not, as the old-fashioned depilatories, remove the hair from the skin, leaving it to grow again. The actual hair roots come out before your very eyes, leaving the skin as smooth and hairless as a babe.

Because it offers such complete relief, a stick of phenolic is the most inexpensive and safe way to buy for the removal of hairy growth. For the same reason, it is having an enormous demand. You can use it with perfect safety. It is so harmless one could even use it without any ill effect. Advertisement.

CAMP AT BREST, ONCE ABUSED, NOW CALLED BEST IN FRANCE How Duckboards Conquered Mud Is Told by Representative Kelly—Delousing Station, Kitchen, Entertainments.

Brest, abused as the eyesore of American camps overseas, today is the model camp of France, according to Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, who has just returned from a tour of European war fields.

The smoothly running machinery of the camp is operating without a hitch, he declared yesterday. Tales of the camp life and methods during the rainy season are brought back first hand by Mr. Kelly, who personally inspected it.

"How do they fight the mud?" he was asked.

Duckboards Conquer Mud.
"With duckboards," he said, "for endless miles these unique board walks stretch past every tent and barracks, making it possible for men to go any place in camp and never set foot in the mud, which is another name for Brest during the rainy season."

These duckboards are stretched along the ground like homemade ladders, some eight feet long, with the rungs made of four-inch boards, and every two inches apart. There are double ladders in front of all the tents and barracks, so that the men may pass each other without difficulty.

"A visitor to the camp is impressed with the tremendous task which has been accomplished in equipping every foot of the walks with them. There are sixty footwalks, and three and a half miles of plank roads."

Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, son of Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, is in command, and his pet name, according to Mr. Kelly, is "General Duckboard." He won it by heading a procession of 2,000 men, marching three miles to Brest and brought back many duckboards for immediate use, Mr. Kelly avers.

Amusing Incident Told.
An incident of the march back with the sixty-pound duckboards is cited by the congressman.

"One of the boards," he said, "Gen. Butler started back to camp at the head of the procession. It grew dark, but the line kept moving. Just outside the camp a military policeman noticed the general's car, which was following a short distance behind. He yelled to the leader to get out of the road and let the car pass."

"Never mind, that's my car," said the leader, bending under his load.

HAND GRENADES SOLD FOR CHILD THRIFT BANKS

Boys and Girls May Get Coin Receipts on Pledge to Buy War Savings Stamps.

Ten local banks have united in purchasing thousands of genuine hand-grenade savings banks, which will be distributed among Washington school children who earn money during their vacation with which to purchase thrift stamps and war savings stamps.

The banks have been obtained from the Treasury Department through the fifth federal reserve organization at Richmond, having been "swapped" from the War Department after the close of hostilities. The grenades have slots cut in their metal sides so that pennies and dimes may be inserted, through a nickel is too large.

Letter Sent to Schools.
Through Miss M. E. Whitell, director of the W. S. S. campaign in the District public schools, the following letter has been sent to every school room in Washington, to be read there:

"Dear Children: Do you want a real hand grenade which the War Department has been sent to every school as a weapon to be used against the Germans at the time when the armistice was signed?"

"The Treasury has made these grenades into little iron banks for the school children of the country, to encourage them in their saving and purchase of thrift and war savings stamps. You may have one by applying to any bank named below and signing an agreement to earn enough by doing odd jobs during vacation to purchase one war savings stamp. The bank also gives you a receipt, which in which to keep your pennies and dimes. When you have purchased your war savings stamp at the bank the grenade is yours to keep. The bank also gives you a receipt which you present to your teacher, to your teacher and receive credit in the school."

"How do you get that way, dough-boy?" was the replying shout with a volley of sarcastic invectives.

The general straightened up and showed the stars, and the road guard's face took on a ruby hue.

"Never mind, boy, you're on the job," was the general's reply."

Camp Graphically Described.

And this is the way in which Representative Kelly tells the story of Brest's condition.

"I watched the Rainbow Division go through the regular procedure of entering and leaving the camp. They marched into camp through the main entrance and started for tents or barracks, to which different units had been assigned."

"There are 450 barracks, each with a capacity of 112 men. But the majority of the men seem to prefer the tents to the barracks. Each man is given five woolen blankets for his own use."

"I watched the boys come for supper and it was a sight worth seeing. They found substantial kitchen buildings awaiting them, with a sign 'Beaumonts Seconds,' indicating plenty for all regardless of appetite."

"They passed through in ten lines and 5,000 men were fed in less than an hour. When they finished they passed out into another building, where many great Napoleon kettles spluttered and steamed. The mess kit went into a pot of soup, then into the kettle of cold water. A few waves in the air and the supper dishes were washed, rinsed and dried ready for inspection."

Entertainments Every Night.

"Entertainments are given every night. Facilities include a Y. M. C. auditorium, seating 3,000, two K. of C. recreation huts, two Salvation Army huts, one Jewish Welfare hut and seven Red Cross huts. The total capacity of the huts is 25,000."

"One of the most amazing features of the camp is the bathing and delousing station, where within eight hours, 6,000 men are bathed, their clothing renovated and all chances of their return to the states with 'cooties' are obliterated."

"When the history of this war is written, it will be the history of the camp, and its commander will receive not the lowest place of honor, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. It is a model camp in every respect. It is the best in France."

A treacherous bank of sand 200 yards south of the railroad bridge in the channel is thought responsible for the drowning of James Nathan Thompson, eighteen, colored, of 939 F street southwest, yesterday afternoon, while he was bathing.

The body was recovered by a party on a launch which dragged the channel for it. Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of death by drowning.

ANTI-SALOON COUNSEL STRIKES AT NEAR-BEER

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, appearing yesterday before the Senate Judiciary committee considering prohibition legislation, urged enactment of a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of near-beers and all malt and distilled liquors, irrespective of whether they contain any trace of alcohol. He said, however, he did not favor any action against "legitimate" soft drinks.

Mr. Wheeler also urged the committee to recommend legislation limiting the amount of alcohol in medicinal liquids and compounds, whether medicated, proprietary or patented, to one-half of 1 per cent. Mr. Wheeler told the committee one purpose of prohibition advocates was to eliminate near beer saloons, through which "there would be possibility of evading the dry law."

AMERICANS IN MORMON DISTRICT ORDERED OUT

Mexican Commander Announces He Cannot Give Protection Now. Nurses Also Warned.

By the Associated Press.
JUAREZ, Mexico, June 21.—Americans were warned to leave the Mormon district of western Chihuahua "when the crisis arrives" by Gen. Manuel Diezguiz, commander of the northwestern military zone, according to a telegram received last night by American Consul Dow from American Consul Stewart at Chihuahua City.

The message stated that Gen. Diezguiz considered the withdrawal of the Americans from the Casas Grandes Mormon district advisable until such a time as he could send troops into that district to protect the Americans. The warning was referred to the American State Department.

Mormon Church officials here consider it impracticable for the 520 Mormons living in the Casas Grandes district to leave their homes at this time and consider it improbable that another exodus, similar to those of 1912 and 1914, will result from Gen. Diezguiz' warning.

Gen. Diezguiz also informed the American consul at Chihuahua City that his bombing planes were ready to take the field and that a column would be started north at once to capture Villa.

Six American Red Cross nurses caring for Carranza and Villa wounded in the White Cross hospital here were advised to return to the American side yesterday by Mayor Romero. The reason given was "the presence of the Villistas," but it was not known whether the mayor referred to Villa wounded or the presence of the Villa forces near Juarez.

Gen. Gonzales has ordered an investigation of the incident.
